

danesi caffè

Danesi caffè is a Rome-based company founded in 1905 by Alfredo Danesi, an expert and custodian of secret blends. Alfredo Danesi was among the pioneers of the traditional espresso culture and consumption in the Italian capital city early in the last century.

Since 1933, Giovanni Danesi took over his father's business promoting the company growth and expanding its sales capacity following a marked specialisation in the public business sector (hotel-restaurant-café distribution channel).

1973 marked the foundation of the first Danesi office abroad, hence exportation of products leading to the company's presence in more than 50 countries worldwide.

Since 1990, after thirty years heading the company alongside their father Giovanni, Alfredo and Roberto Danesi took over the reins following the footsteps of their predecessors adding a more industrial and modern management touch to the company. The fourth Danesi generation actively cooperates within the family company with particular attention to the structural reorganisation of the company aimed at greater flexibility and competitiveness in its fields of operation.

Thus Danesi has been in the market for over a hundred years championing – through its products – quality protection, traditional principles and great adaptation to an ever-expanding market.

As a matter of fact, nowadays it is possible to talk about coffee culture. A culture based on experience and technical expertise. A noble knowledge based on understanding and respecting nature, perpetuated through innovative production technologies. Conscious of a market more and more oriented towards environmental issues, over the years the Danesi company policy has been oriented towards environmental protection by adopting production techniques and conduct capable of reducing negative environmental impact.

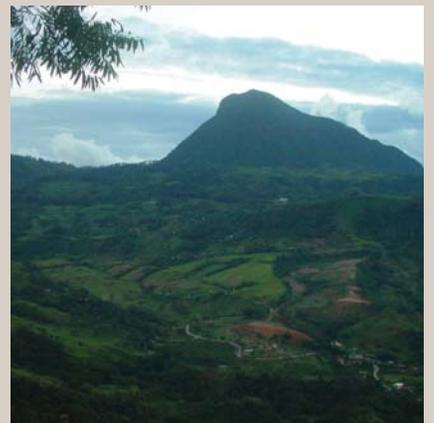

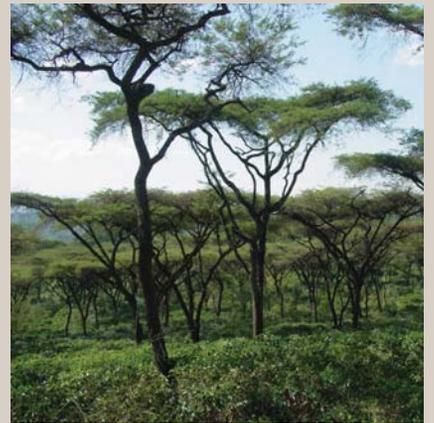

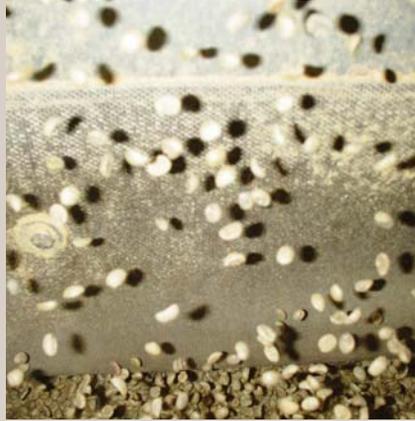

It is in this framework that that the company has been promoting research and development projects regarding biodegradable packaging material.

Selection, blending, roasting, grinding are archaic and fundamental operations handed down over the years through ever-refined systems as well as painstaking quality control.

The roasting process is performed through combined heat convection and conduction operations. Slow and gradual times are applied during the roasting process.

The final result is unique product equally matching the unique profile of Danesi Caffé, a company working hard in silence to fulfil its dream of bringing quality aroma to your cup of coffee.
